LINCOLN HIGH ART DISPLAY

During the run of "Love Rides the Rails," you'll be enjoying an art display of works done by 10th, 11th and 12th graders at Tacoma's Lincoln High School. Art instructress and coordinator of the show Helen Walbridge says that art produced for her oil painting, lettering (calligraphy) and photography classes are included, making for a show with great diversity and interest. Examples are realistic oils, illuminated poetry manuscripts and both black and white and color photography. Mrs. Walbridge, who is also displaying some of her own photography, has been teaching art in the Tacoma area for over 10 years.
